

TAX RESIDENCY AND FOREIGN TAX INFORMATION

Under New Zealand Law, Covisory must collect a self-certification from you about your tax residency status. Covisory must provide your information (even if you refuse to give information or a declaration) to Inland Revenue, who may share that information with overseas tax authorities under international agreements.

You must complete this self-certification form and return it to Covisory if you are an individual.

If you are unsure how to complete this form or do not understand the consequences of not providing the correct information, please seek advice from a tax professional, lawyer, or other adviser before you complete this form. For more information about why you need to complete this form, see www.ird.govt.nz/infoshare.

SECTION 3. DECLARATION

I have the authority to provide the information in this self-certification form, which is true and complete. I understand that not giving information or giving false information could be serious under New Zealand Law. I understand Covisory may need extra information from me about my tax residency status, and I will provide any extra information Covisory requests. I will also contact Covisory if any information I have given changes.
